Pemilik bengkel kenderaan 'ketuk' harga

SAUDARA PENGARANG,

MASIH ada pengusaha bengkel kenderaan yang tidak mempamerkan tanda harga barang dan servis. Jika ada pun tulisan pun tak nampak.

Apabila ditanya, barulah pengusaha bengkel memberitahu harga tersebut. Mereka juga menggunakan tulisan tangan bagi sebut harga senarai servis pelanggan dan bukannya cetakkan di atas resit yang sah.

Tindakan tidak mempamerkan tanda harga barang dan servis memberi ruang dan peluang kepada pemilik bengkel untuk 'ketuk' harga.

Melihat pelanggan yang datang nampak seperti orang kaya, maka harga tinggi dikenakan. Lebih kasihan jika orang yang kurang berkemampuan pun dikenakan caj tinggi.

Pasukan penguat kuasa Kementerian Perdagangan Dalam Negeri dan Kosara Hidup (KPDN) pun nampaknya agresif 'memburu' pemilik bengkel yang tidak mempamerkan tanda harga barang dan servis.

Kami sebagai pengguna sememangnya berharap tindakan tegas dikenakan kepada pemilik bengkel terbabit sehingga semua bengkel mempamerkan senarai harga dengan jelas.

(古晋18日讯) 国内贸易及生活成本部加强与砂拉越公用事业及通讯部, 以及执法机构之间的战略合作, 解决该州的柴油纰漏问题。

内贸部副部长傅芝雅指出, 随着该部门在边界地区和海域没有执法权, 因此, 该部门与执法机构如警方、大马海事执法机构及关税局采取综合举措至关重要。

“只有当所有机构同步行动, 情报、监督和充公行动才会奏效。补贴燃料纰漏问题不能单靠单一机构应对。”

她今天出席一项汇报会后, 对媒体这么说。

傅芝雅指出, 根据去年的“纰漏行动3.0”(Op Tiris 3.0)统计, 从1月至5月16日期间, 全国录得950宗燃料纰漏案件, 其中187宗发生在砂拉越, 成为柴油充公价值最高的州属。

边界7油站 被鉴定高风险地点

合作解決柴油纰漏問題

在砂拉越的纰漏相当严重, 反观半岛在实施柴油补贴管制(SKDS)之后, 畴漏显著减少。

“在砂拉越边界地区有7个油站被鉴定为发生补贴纰漏的高风险地点。

“有鉴于此, 本部门加强监督行动, 并与油站业者合作, 以遏制重复或可疑购买活动。”

傅芝雅说, 补贴纰漏的问题需以全面的方式解决, 社会大众的参与以向有关当局提供情报也至关重要。

她指出, 在砂拉越的液化石油气(LPG)受限于砂拉越天然气分销法令, 只有价格管制及反暴利法令适用于该州。

“内贸部和州政府之间的合作, 对于确保即使在难以进入的地区价格也能保持稳定至关重要。

“政府将扩大社区油桶(Community Drumming)计划, 以便液化石油气供应能到达偏远地区, 同时不会对消费者带来物流成本负担。”

Tiada keperluan subsidi jika harga minyak terus rendah

Penangguhan subsidi bersasar beri ruang kerajaan perkukuh mekanisme pelaksanaan

Oleh Mahanum Abdul Aziz
mahanum_aziz@bh.com.my

Tiada keperluan subsidi petrol jika harga minyak terus rendah dan nilai ringgit mengukuh berbanding dolar Amerika Syarikat (AS), demikian menurut pengaralis.

Ia berikut kemerosotan berterusan harga minyak mentah menjadikan harga pasaran semakin menghampiri paras harga subsidi RON95 pada RM2.05 setier.

Pada Jumaat lalu, harga kontrak hadapan Brent ditutup pada AS$65.41 satu tong, sementara kontrak hadapan minyak AS, West Texas Intermediate pada AS$62.49.

Ahli Ekonomi ASEAN HSBC, Yun Liu, berkata kemerosotan harga minyak yang berterusan menjadikan jurang antara harga pasaran dan harga runcit bersubsidi bagi RON95 di Malaysia mengecil.

Justeru, katanya, jika keadaan itu berterusan menjadikan subsidi adalah sesuatu yang tidak perlu.

"Saya mendapat soalan dari pada pelanggan mengenai risiko Malaysia tidak dapat memenuhi janji fiskalnya (jika subsidi bersasar RON95 ditangguhkan). Bagi saya, ia tidak semestinya memandangkan harga minyak membantu."

"Jika harga minyak terus merosot, seperti ke paras AS$60 satu tong, AS$55 satu tong, ia menjadi lebih hampir dengan harga runcit bersubsidi RM2.05 setier."

"Maka tiada gunanya memberi subsidi. Malah, jika dolar AS melemah dan ringgit terus mengukuh, ia juga memihak kepada Malaysia," katanya dalam satu temu bual eksklusif bersama BH.

Beliau berkata demikian bagi mengulas impak kepada kedudukan fiskal kerajaan jika pelaksaan subsidi bersasar RON95 ditangguhkan.

Dalam pembentangan Belanjawan 2025 pada Oktober tahun lalu, Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim berkata, kerajaan bercadang untuk melaksanakan penyaluran subsidi petrol RON95 pada pertengahan 2025.

Perdana Menteri yang juga Menteri Kewangan berkata, penjimatan yang dicapai akan dimanfaatkan untuk kesejahteraan rakyat terbanyak.

Mengulas lanjut, Liu berkata, jika kerajaan menangguhkan rancangan pelaksanaan subsidi bersasar RON95, ia mempunyai ruang untuk memantapkan mekanisme pelaksanaan subsidi bersasar supaya rakyat yang layak dapat menikmatinya.

Tambahan lagi, katanya, kerajaan masih mempunyai cara untuk menutup 'lompong' pembiayaan sambil mengekalkan janji fiskalnya.

Beliau menjelaskan, jika kerajaan meneruskan rancangan pelaksanaan subsidi bersasar RON95 seperti dirancangkan juga tidak akan menjelaskan kumpulan rentan memandangkan ia dilaksanakan secara bersasar.

Kurangkan subsidi petrol
Bloomberg News baru-baru ini melaporkan dengan memetik jurucakap Kementerian Kewangan menyatakan bahawa Malaysia komited untuk mengurangkan subsidi petrol pada separuh kedua tahun ini dan sedang memperhalusi rancangannya apabila tarif AS menyelubungi prospek ekonomi.

Kerajaan akan terus menilai input dan maklum balas dalam memperhalusi butiran mengenai pengubahsuaian subsidi bahan apiinya memandangkan ia terbabit secara aktif dengan pelbagai pemegang taruh, kata jurucakap itu.

Sementara itu, pada Mac lalu, Menteri Kewangan II, Datuk Seri Amir Hamzah Azizan, dilaporkan berkata pembangunan mekanisme pelaksanaan subsidi bersasar RON95 sedang diperhalusi dan kerajaan tidak mahu mengumumkan sesuatu pelaksanaan dasar secara terburu-buru.

Beliau berkata, pelaksanaan subsidi bersasar RON95 akan menggunakan dua peringkat harga iaitu harga subsidi dan tanpa subsidi.

Katanya, sistem yang akan digunakan dalam penyaluran subsidi RON95 kepada rakyat yang layak adalah melalui MyKad.

Kerajaan dijangka mengumumkan mekanisme lengkap pelaksanaan rasionalisasi subsidi RON95 selepas sepuh pertama tahun ini.

App to facilitate smarter healthcare product purchases

► Platform would ensure consumers aware of medicine prices as steep variations occur at private clinics and pharmacies

■ BY IKHWAN ZULKAFLEE
newsdesk@thesundaily.com

PETALING JAYA: A mobile application which allows users to compare the prices of medications at private clinics and hospitals could be the ideal solution to help consumers make informed healthcare decisions, says economist Prof Emeritus Barjoyai Bardal.

He said such a platform would ensure consumers are aware of the prices of medicines in the market before making a purchase.

"At the moment, medicine prices at over-the-counter pharmacies vary significantly. In the Klang Valley alone, there are many pharmacies, and since prices were previously unregulated, some were selling medicines at double the price compared with competitors."

"This should not continue, as consumers who fail to diligently compare prices may incur unnecessary financial losses," he told theSun.

Barjoyai said the government should consider developing the app in line with the enforcement of the mandatory price display under the Price Control and Anti-Profliteering Act 2011 (Act 723), which came into effect on May 1.

"Just like pharmacies, private healthcare facilities also charge varying prices for medication. Unless someone visits several clinics or hospitals, it's hard to know which one offers more affordable services."

"But if there were an app that allowed users to compare treatment and medication costs at nearby facilities, it would empower consumers to make smarter choices. It might also encourage clinics to standardise pricing to remain competitive."

During a TikTok Live session by a senior Health Ministry officer who discussed the mandatory display of medicine prices in private clinics and pharmacies last Wednesday, it was revealed that a mobile app is in development to help users compare medicine prices across private clinics and pharmacies.

Barjoyai, however, was puzzled over the opposition from some healthcare groups to the implementation in the private sector.

"Displaying prices has long been mandatory across retail sectors, from hypermarkets to market traders. Pharmacies are also required to comply. So it's unclear why certain groups in the private healthcare sector are objecting to this move," he said.

The mandate to display drug prices at general practice clinics has sparked concerns that it could trigger medical inflation.

Federation of Private Medical Practitioners' Associations Malaysia (FPMPAM) president Dr Shanmuganathan TV Ganeson said the enforcement would impact livelihoods and restrict patient access to affordable care.

He said GPs nationwide have long practised a "bundled fee" model, in which charges for administrative tasks, consultations, nursing, medication and minor procedures are combined into one affordable sum for the entire visit.

With the new move, Shanmuganathan said GPs may no longer be able to pool the services under a single bill, and a typical clinic visit could now cost patients over RM100.

"The bundled model mirrors the Diagnostic Related Groups (DRG) pricing system, which helps contain costs and offers predictability for patients."

"For instance, treating a common condition like dengue fever might typically include: RM35 for consultation, RM20 for medicine and RM40 for blood tests, totalling RM95, with no separate charges for registration, nursing, disposables, utilities or compliance documentation."

"However, under the new itemised or

'unbundled' billing requirement, patients could now see charges such as RM5 for registration, RM10 for medicine, RM5 for disposables, RM5 for waste disposal and RM5 each for nursing and infectious disease notifications. This would raise the total bill to around RM110," he explained in a WhatsApp reply to theSun.

Shanmuganathan warned that the shift would not only drive up costs but also increase the administrative load for GPs, who have traditionally absorbed or waived minor fees to keep care affordable.

On Sunday, the Health Ministry clarified that there is no policy change or new directive requiring private medical clinics to provide itemised billing by default.

It said itemised bills are only mandatory upon a patient's request and must be issued at no extra charge to help patients understand the breakdown of service, treatment and medication costs.

"The right of patients to request an itemised bill is stipulated under the Private Healthcare Facilities and Services (Private Hospitals and Other Private Healthcare Facilities) Regulations 2006," the ministry said in a statement.

It emphasised that continued collaboration among stakeholders will enhance healthcare quality and safeguard patient rights, in line with Madani values, particularly "well-being", which promotes equal rights for both patients and private providers.
